RE: USI Insurance Services National, Inc. v. Stanley Ogden, et al., C17-1394RSL
Stipulated Protective Order

Dear Counsel:

On March 23, 2018, the Court received your proposed Stipulated Protective Order, Dkt. # 37.

Pursuant to Fed. R. Civ. P. 26(c), protective orders may be entered to protect parties from annoyance, embarrassment, or undue burden or to protect confidential commercial information. Such protective orders may issue upon a showing of good cause.

Although parties may agree on confidentiality among themselves, when they request that the Court be involved, the proposed order must be narrowly drawn, identifying both the type of information that is to be protected and, if not obvious, the reason such protection is warranted. The order must also comply with the applicable federal and local procedural rules.

The agreed protective order submitted in this case is deficient because it is too broad and gives too much discretion to the parties to designate information as “confidential.” The categories listed in paragraph 2 of the proposed order are simply examples and do not limit the scope of the order. In addition, the parties seek protection for anything they choose to identify as “confidential and/or sensitive business information.” Any protective order entered by the Court must clearly identify the class or type of documents subject to the order and the need for confidentiality.

The agreed protective order received by the Court will remain lodged in the file, but will not be entered. The parties may resubmit a proposed order if they remedy the deficiencies identified in this letter.

Sincerely,
